

Data 101: How to Find Data

With grant proposals, the desired data usually is baseline data (to show past results or to measure future improvements), demographics or data that proves a need exists. The data needed is usually either required by the funder or is desirable to help make the case for funding.

